

Carol Summers

I am currently serving on the visiting team because I love people!

The thing I would bring to the church council is honest participation.

Something I would recommend to the whole church family is to go to Cornerstone!

Over the almost 8 years I have been a part of All Souls, I have served in the student ministry, led a fellowship group, and I am now a teacher at Free English Classes. It's a wonderful opportunity to build friendships and to share the Gospel.

I am particularly passionate about including those who are marginalised in church life, and hope to contribute towards a church which loves and welcomes its neighbour.

My professional background in Probation and the Criminal Justice System helps me to analyse issues from a safeguarding and risk management perspective, looking at challenges from a wider perspective.

I hope that I will be able to bring an international perspective to the council, in view of my own experience of being a Christian in Portugal and involvement in the Portuguese student movement, my passion for mission across the Globe.

I am currently at the end of my first term on the PCC and wish to continue for the second and final term. It is a huge privilege to be able to actively participate in discussions and in decisions that help the church steward the resources available - properties, church building, various ministries and more.

As a former secondary school teacher and deputy head of my department, I will bring to the church council my ability to discuss matters in depth and come to a reasonable conclusion. I will also bring my strong commitment to serving Christ.

I have been at All Souls for many years. My husband and my two sons, by God's grace, still attend and are involved in the life of the church. I am part of World Mission Committee, leader of the counting team, and an active member of a Life Group. I am also on the 11.30am Sunday morning Prayer rota. We enjoy being at Cornerstone each year.

I serve on the 5.30 stewarding team. I do it to reflect the welcome God has given me into his family, and because feeling seen and valued in a big church is really important.

I am looking for a new area in which to serve - I have received so much from All Souls and would love to give back, and my work rota now makes this more possible. I'll be honest, I'm daunted by the prospect of helping All Souls make governance decisions in the current climate in the UK and Church of England. I have experience as a charity trustee and sitting on committees, but the main resource I would be depending on if elected is the Holy Spirit.

I have been a Christian since a young age. I came to All Souls towards the end of a graduate medicine degree and it remains a solid rock as I try and navigate life as a palliative medicine doctor. I've been blessed by so many All Souls friends and ministries - The Ergon Fellowship, Springboard, fellowship groups, Cornerstone, Flourish... It's such a gift to be part of a vibrant gospel community.

I believe that good governance enhances and protects the mission of the Church and I am pleased to offer experiences I have gained from the corporate, charities and public sector to the role.

I have also run an after school Bible club for the last 10 years, with the aim of teaching primary aged children big truths to grow into - about Jesus, the Bible and Christian life.

CHURCH
WARDEN

For the last 11 months, I have served as one of the Church Wardens, following 5 years on the PCC, 6 years leading a Fellowship Group, and 14 years as an All Souls Church family. My week-to-week duties include supporting the clergy and staff, safeguarding the building and its users, coordinating welcome and set-up teams, and acting as a pastoral "first port of call" on Sundays.

- Almost six years of membership means I know our history as well as today's challenges.
- A servant-hearted, collaborative approach
- Strong organisational skills and a calm head when dealing with complex issues
- A family & minority lens (with two young daughters and an international background)
- Prayerful dependence on Christ

Both our girls were baptised here. All Souls has walked with us through joys and sorrows and is the place our children are growing in faith. We are thankful for the gospel-centred, international, all-age character of the fellowship and would love to keep serving wherever we are most useful.

I'm honoured to be considered for the Church Council at All Souls. After worshipping here for over 10 years, I bring a deep love for our church family and a long-standing commitment to its spiritual and practical life.

With a background in communications, PR, and project management, I hope to offer strategic insight and hands-on skills in how we engage with our diverse congregation and wider community. As a Black African member of the church, I also bring a perspective that reflects the richness of our multicultural fellowship. I'm passionate about inclusivity, clear communication, and building unity across generations.

Above all, I have a heart to serve, listen, and work together as we seek God's leading for the future of All Souls.

As a parent of a young adult, I naturally connect with younger members, often chatting after services, sharing church life, and encouraging involvement in groups and fellowship.

I am part of the music team. I grew up singing in Church (from children choir to singing in the band), and that is the talent that I want to give back to God, leading the Church to worship and praise Him for His goodness.

I would bring a diverse perspective shaped by my experiences serving and being part of church communities across Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore, Nottingham, and London. Additionally, my background in engineering enables me to contribute a unique set of insights and approaches to the already vibrant All Souls community.

I initially attended All Souls remotely during the COVID-19 pandemic, while residing in Singapore, in preparation for my relocation to London in the summer of 2021.

I have been at All Souls for just over fifty years. I have been involved in many areas of church life including being a current member of a fellowship group and some years ago being a fellowship group leader.

My work has been mainly in accountancy and bookkeeping and in this connection I have a particular interest in the Christian approach to money. I am also a member of the counting team.

I have always felt I should have a particular commitment to supporting the weak, including visiting people needing support. I was for a long time an Aslan volunteer and I help lead a weekly zoom Bible group which a former Aslan guest regularly attends.

It has been a great privilege to serve as a member of the PCC this past year and I would welcome the opportunity to continue to serve in this way.
